DECLARED A LEGAL NEWSPAPER BY ACT OF SUPERIOR COURT FOR ALAMEDA COUNTY

ALBANY, ALAMEDA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1937

NUMBER 5

VOLUME III

New Dog Law Is Passed by City Council

"Leash" Question Will Appear on Ballot In April

Oil trickled upon the troubled waters in Albany's "dog controversy" Monday night, when the City Council unanimously passing a new ordinance that acceded to practically every demand of the protesting dog owners who filled the council chambers to overflowing last week.

Before a throng that filled all available seats, the first reading of an ordinance omitting the "leash" clause and the one that had previously made it illegal for a person "under 10" to appear in public with a dog, was held. By the terms of the law a licensed dog can run at will in the City.

However, the resolution made last week to place the question of leashing dogs before the people at the election next April, still stands. A motion by Councilman Frank Hays to revoke it was voted down by Councilman George Batchelder and Vincent Hanahan and Mayor O. C. Yenne.

PEOPLE TO DECIDE
In the face of opposition from Irving Liner, attorney for the protesting animal owners, the majority decided that the matter was of sufficient importance to be voted upon next year.

Asked by Mrs. Wells A. Webb, leader in the fight to repeal the "leash law", if he thought the new ordinance "is an expression of the will of the people", Mayor Yenne declared: "The ordinance is the will of the people that were here last week!"

Indication that opinion in Albany is not unanimously in favor of allowing dogs to run unrestrictedly, was presented in statements from several spectators and in communications read. These complainants, home owners who seek protection for their lawns and shrubs, asked what redress there would be in case of damage by dogs. Questioned, City Attorney C. N. Lavers disclosed that, in his opinion, dog owners are not always responsible for the actions of their animals.

TO GET WPA AID

Presenting a resolution to get WPA aid in ridding residents of her district of rats, Mrs. Kathie Zahn, 907 Santa Fe Avenue, reported that she had contacted Federal authorities on the problem. The resolution was passed at her request and will employ eight men a month for six months. All work will be done under the supervision of Dr. Jack L. Stein, City health officer.

Offered by Councilman Batchelder, the request of the Chamber of Commerce for $250 to pay part of the expense of lighting the City during the holiday season, was deferred until the other councilmen study the idea. Equipment to be secured will belong to the City and will be available for other occasions, he said.

Balance of the cost, about the same amount, is to be taken care of by local businessmen, according to Arthur B. Taveira, secretary of the organization.

Merchants Play Cafes on Sunday

The Albany Merchants will meet the Robak Cafes next Sunday at James Kenny Park, Berkeley, announces Jake Nora, manager of the local baseball line. The game will start at 2 p. m. The fast, capable Cafe team is expected to give the Albany outfit a stiff time and the contest should draw a large crowd of supporters from this city.

Police Look for Wounded Man in Attempted Theft

Awakened by the sound of his bedroom window opening early Sunday evening, Charles King, 907 Taylor Street, raised himself from bed to look into the face of a man about to enter. The would-be thief, startled by the movement of Taylor, turned and fled to his car parked around the corner on Solano Avenue.

King picked up a 22-caliber target pistol, rushed to a window facing Solano and fired several shots at the rear of the intruder's car. Because the driver started the car with difficulty, the local man believes that his shots took effect.

In a description to police, who immediately had a warning broadcast, King described the intruder as being over six feet. King, an employe in the San Francisco post office, was alone in his house at the time.

Frank Knapp Hurt Sunday In Accident

Following an accident early Sunday morning on the East Shore Highway, Frank Knapp, 45, of 1117 Dartmouth Street is confined to Berkeley General Hospital, suffering from a fractured skull and other injuries. Knapp was riding in a car driven by John Murphy, 35, of 9th Street, Oakland, when the vehicle crashed into one driven by George Nelson, 28, of Sacramento.

Berkeley police, investigating the crash, claim that Murphy was driving on the wrong side of the highway. Other passengers in the Oakland man's car, who were hurt, were: Michael Cosgrove, 33, 2021 Harrington Street, Oakland, lacerations of the head and face; and Mr. and Mrs. Dalwin Brunetti, 1078 Nelson Street, chest and elbow injuries and scalp wounds, respectively.

According to a report yesterday, Knapp was doing "as well as can be expected." He is the proprietor of a tavern at Dartmouth and San Pablo Avenue, and is a brother of Mrs. Don Accornero, wife of the owner of Don's Market.

Coincidentally, the injured man's father, Mason E. Knapp, 68, of the same address, was severely injured in a truck-auto accident on the highway at Gilman Street on October 28. The elder man filed suit this week in Superior Court for $15,000.00 for injuries assertedly received when he was thrown through his windshield when his truck was struck by a car driven by Marshall E. Hooper, 20, of 4141 Gilbert Street, Oakland, charged later with reckless driving.

Also named in the suit are Rollo C. Wheeler, registered owner of the car; Robert Biringer, operator of a finance company; Joe Haley, owner of the used car lot from which the car was borrowed by Hooper, and Joe Carpenter, a salesman.

Ban Home Study For Elementary School Pupils

Adoption of a policy of no homework for students in the first to the eighth grades inclusive, was announced Tuesday by Superintendent of Schools Allen Keim following a meeting with Principals Charles A. Moore, Kenneth Glines and Eugene Baker.

"For some time we have been considering abolition of compulsory homework for pupils in these grades," Keim said. "From now on, except where absence causes it to be necessary to make up work, there will be no homework assigned to students in the elementary grades and as little as possible in the High School."

If students wish to take work home, of course, that is permissible, he added. Main reason for the new ruling is that authorities felt a supervised study program in school is of more value to the children.

Driver Gets 40-Day Term For Driving While Drunk

Pleading guilty to drunken driving in this city on the morning of November 11, Richard W. Stewart, 25, of 2425 Grant Street Berkeley, was ordered Tuesday morning by Judge Louis J. Hardie to pay a fine of $200 or serve 40 days in the County Jail. Unable to pay, he was locked up.

Stewart was also given a 10-day sentence, to run concurrently, for failure to complete payment of a $50 fine levied for reckless driving in Albany on November 11, 1935. At that time he paid $16.50 of the amount, could not be located for the balance, according to local police.

In his latest appearance he entered a plea of guilty to non-payment of the fine. He was represented by Raymond Ferrario, deputy public defender. Stewart, who is married and the father of three children, was arrested last week by Officer Kenneth Nickerson.

Justice was tempered with mercy in the case of J. E. Healey, 58, of 1828 Ganges Avenue, El Cerrito, charged by Officer Nickerson with reckless driving on San Pablo Avenue on October 9. On his plea of guilty, entered by Attorney Herbert Johnson, Healey was given a fine of $25. The amount was decreased to $10 upon recommendation of F. Kennedy Jackson, deputy district attorney, The El Cerritan, a WPA worker, was arrested for erratic driving at a speed of 15 miles an hour.

Wednesday night's session in Police Court saw Glenn W. Brown, 21, of 1520 5th Street, Berkeley, entering a guilty plea to reckless driving on October 31. On learning that Brown had several persons dependent on him, Judge Hardie sentenced him to attend the Berkeley Traffic School. The arrest was made by Officer Frank Davis.

Reckless driving on November 8 brought a fine of $50 to Hans Jacobsen, 30, of 1176 University Avenue, Berkeley. Jacobsen, who admitted drinking at the time of his arrest, was driving 5 miles an hour when stopped.

Clarence Ferreira, 22, of 1008 Kennedy St., Oakland, was fined $15 for traveling 50 miles an hour on San Pablo last Sunday during the rain. Officer Nickerson made the arrest.

Member Drive Is Conducted By Red Cross

With more than 2000 volunteer workers in the field, the annual roll call of the Berkeley Chapter, American Red Cross, was launched Monday with an intensive solicitation covering Berkeley and Albany. Having for its ultimate goal the enrollment of every adult in the two communities, the solicitation plan this year differs in several respects from that of other years, according to Frank S. Gaines, chairman of the membership committee.

Albany has been divided into two areas. One is under the direction of Walter Teasdale as chairman and Mrs. Lela J. Brunstien as co-chairman. Serving as precinct chairmen are Charles Lyon, Fire Chief Carl Ahlgren, Max Bingoff, Councilman Vincent Hanahan, Mrs. May Ellis, Mrs. Florence Taveira, Mrs. W. B. Murphy, Mrs. Fred Wortham, Mrs. Marjorie Kane, William Feeny and Jack Varni.

The other area is in charge of A. L. Ford, assisted by the following precinct chairmen: Mrs. Kenneth Glines, Mrs. Edward Knox, Mrs. Zella Lindh, Mrs. Mae O'Brien, Mrs. Paul Flegel, Mrs. Luella Houser, Mrs. George E. Bybee, Mrs. Elizabeth Orton, Frank Graeber and George Lenfesty.

"The roll call this year will be carried on at residences only," related Gaines. "This plan has been instituted out of consideration for business firms as well as for the convenience of residents. No residence in this city will be missed and every person will be given opportunity in the way most convenient for all concerned." For this consideration, it is pointed out, residents will perform the greatest possible service, as well as assure themselves of the least inconvenience, by cooperating with the roll caller on his first call at their homes.

"The Red Cross is the only permanent national relief agency chartered by Congress to afford aid and comfort to the Nation's citizenry in times of peace as well as of war," advised Gaines. "The Red Cross is permanent preparedness against emergency and disaster."

Four types of membership are open to adults, it is pointed out. These are Supporting membership, $25; sustaining membership, $10; contributing membership, $5, and annual membership, $1. Fifty cents of each fee goes to Washington, D. C., for support of national activities; the balance remains with the local chapter for local needs.

Archery Meet Is Scheduled For Sunday

"Rain, rain, go away. Come again some other day — but not next Sunday." That was the earnest plea of Thomas L. Farnsworth, superintendent of the Albany Recreation Department, and the recreation leaders of the Federal recreation project, were making of the elements today as they apprehensively scanned the skies from their office windows.

After making elaborate preparations for the Albany archery field day scheduled for last Sunday, old Jupiter Pluvius took it upon himself to make a quagmire of University Park, scene of the archery meet, and forced postponement of the event until this Sunday.

Nearly 100 ace archers from Albany, Alameda, Berkeley, Richmond and Oakland have been sent invitations and are expected to participate in the unique archery event set for this week end — weather permitting. Starting at 9:30 in the morning, when the first contest begins, the meet will continue through the day and finish late in the afternoon. Juniors and women will compete for prizes in one division, and the men will battle it out among themselves for high honors in the other division.

The competition will be in the form of shooting-for-distance with regulation target bows and arrows, a big game hunt with "animal" targets made especially for the meet by WPA handcraft experts, a clout-shooting contest at 100 yards for juniors and women and at 140 yards for men, and a novelty contest originated for the meet.

Extensive preparations have been made by the department heads for the handling of the large crowd of spectators expected to attend the field day. Recreation leaders will assist in running off the events and in the supervision of the crowd.

Holiday to Commemorate First Thanksgiving Day 117 Years Ago

Mrs. Norton Attends Wedding of Niece

Mrs. Hazel Norton and daughter, Betty, were among the 44 persons who attended the wedding of the latter's niece, Miss Aloha Tisher to Lee Davis Thomas.

The rites took place in Salinas on Wednesday evening, November 10, at 8 o'clock. The bride was a former student at the University of California and both she and the groom are residents of Salinas.

In Hunting Party

Pheasant and quail-hunting was how William J. Wuelzer of 915 Key Route Boulevard spent last Sunday. When he returned home the following day his party had bagged the limit of birds.

He was accompanied by his son, Billy, and Fred Wuelzer and son, Gene, of Berkeley. While away they stayed at the Strawn Ranch at Orland.

Mrs. John Kane was in charge of the book exhibit Wednesday afternoon at Hink's. On display was a large selection of varied books suitable for children's reading, she reported.

Dr. and Mrs. George Brison and daughter, Barbara, of 527 Masonic Avenue, were the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Jacob of San Francisco last week-end.

SOCIETY

Social Set Turns Out to Legion Ball

Gorgeous gowns, whose vivid hues would have paled the poppies on Flanders fields, and styles which bespoke the Paris and Hollywood influence, were seen when the feminine social set of Albany joined with the Legionnaires to celebrate the nineteenth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice, Saturday evening at the Veterans Memorial Building.

Mrs. Anne Sartain, president of the American Legion Auxiliary, wore a gown of black velvet with an arrangement of four gardenias on her shoulder. Seated near her were Mrs. Frank Graeber in a delft blue taffeta with a peplum jacket, Mrs. Ed Eckwall in a wine-colored moire with three ruffles at the bottom of the skirt and Mrs. Roy Lineer in a black velvet skirt and white metallic blouse.

Mrs. Dorothy Williams looked very chic in a sapphire blue velvet skirt with a blouse of white metallic cloth having a high neckline in front and slit to the waist in back, with square sleeves. She wore a gardenia in her hair.

Three other attractively gowned women sat at another table. They were Mrs. Max Etingoff, who wore aquamarine net over matching satin fashioned along empire lines and complemented with a pink corsage and silver slippers; Mrs. William J. Wuelzer, attired in a felpar red formal set off with rhinestone clips on the cowl neckline and matching pumps and Mrs. Cecil N. Lavers, dressed in a cocktail dress with black velvet skirt, silver blouse and silver sandals.

Mrs. Josephine Foley's outfit was similarly made with a black velvet skirt and changeable blue and silver metallic blouse while Mrs. Amelia Cook appeared in a sheath-like gown of silver cloth and Mrs. A. Leroy Ford's choice was a canary yellow net over matching satin.

Mrs. Don Bruce looked very modish in her glacier blue satin frock which was cut along princess lines and worn with sandals. Also seated at her table was Miss June Lambert in a decollete model of black net effectively trimmed with turquoise blue velvet; Mrs. Charles Moore in peach-colored satin with short matching jacket and silver slippers and Mrs. Rilla Moore in a simply made but becoming dress of midnight blue brocaded taffeta and gold slippers.

Mrs. Donald Adams, who entertained at a cocktail party at her home, 1047 Ordway Street, before attending the ball, wore a glamorous gown of black crepe trimmed with gold metallic cloth and a corsage of gold sequins. Her guests were Mrs. Ralph Novell, who wore a turquoise slipper satin patterned along tailored lines with sequins in her hair; Mrs. Harry Kane, rust-colored crepe with a rust and gold metallic jacket and Mrs. Clarence O'Brien, in sea green starched lace with a contrasting corsage.

Other gowns which added sparkle and eclat to the gathering were the flowered model worn by Mrs. Edmund Hanahda with a band of gold flowers in her hair; the brown lace over matching satin worn by Miss Muriel Parnell; the turquoise blue dress and gardenias worn by Mrs. Anna McQuaide and the flowered chiffon over orchid silk worn by Mrs. E. DeBekker.

Mrs. Martha Schiller was seen in a Grecian model of cerise chiffon with an accordion-pleated skirt and a gardenia in her hair. Her companions of the evening were Mrs. Lawrence Walter, who wore a gold brocaded cocktail blouse with black chiffon velvet skirt, black accessories and gardenia corsage; Mrs. Beverly Brown, white lace formal and Mrs. Wyn Robertson, black crepe evening gown with matching accessories.

Others glimpsed at random among the convivial throng of merrymakers were Mrs. C. Terry in a cerise moire gown with cape-like sleeves, Mrs. Lela Brunstein in a flame-colored moire taffeta with fitting bodice, full skirt and matching jacket and gardenias in her dark hair; Mrs. Charles Lyon in a black silk crepe gown with a vee-neckline and a red corsage and Mrs. Lester Oates wearing a jewel red crepe frock trimmed with metallic cloth.

Hold Matches in S. F.

Rain interfered with the tennis matches scheduled for last Sunday at Memorial Park, according to R. Bushnell, who stated that the Albany Team will compete with the St. Francis Club at the courts in San Francisco next Sunday.

Mrs. Milton G. Haines will entertain the members of the bridge section of the Mothers Club of the Y.M.C.A. at a card party to be given at her home, 825½ Stannage Avenue, today.

Mrs. Frank Johnson and daughter, Helen, of 1131 Garfield Avenue, attended the Santa Clara-St. Mary's football game at Kezar stadium, San Francisco, last Sunday.

The meat department has been moved and enlarged. New gleaming white porcelain refrigerated display cases, in which choice cuts of first quality meats are shown, have been installed. The section has been designed to provide quicker and better service for buyers.

The large delicatessen department has also been remodeled and equipped with the newest types of cases, finished in white porcelain with blue trim. Cold meats, salads and other delicacies appear in spotless surroundings.

New display racks and bins in the fruit and vegetable section are arranged to show the choice offerings in inviting array. Experienced, courteous clerks will sell the finest quality of merchandise under ideal conditions.

Behind this department is the latest development in the preparation and storage of these foods. Huge, walk-in refrigeration boxes have been installed, especially designed to preserve full flavor and food value. The newest in equipment to clean the vegetables before they are placed on sale, has been secured.

As is fitting, the completion of the ultra modern "complete food market," is being celebrated with a big five-day sale. Foods for Thanksgiving are now being offered at sensational prices, it is claimed.

Equipment for Market Made by Oakland Firm

All cabinet work and shelving in Villa's Market are products of Oakland workmen, announces Clyde Dick, in charge of commercial installations for the Ruud Heater Company. Special installation of the various refrigerator units were supervised by him.

Kelvinator refrigeration units, made by the firm with 24 years' experience in the business, have been used throughout, he said. All lines have been run underground in conduits, a late development in the industry.

Design of the vegetable "cool-boxes" of the "walk-in" type, was worked out by Dick, who lives at 1045 Neilson Street. These offer a greater relative humidity than is present in most refrigerators, he disclosed, and have been used with considerable success throughout the East Bay. A patent on the principle has been applied for by the local man.

The new shelving in the market is attractively enameled in white and blue, with a gleaming chromium band adding to the general appearance. This equipment was designed especially for Villa's Market, it is reported.

Refrigerated show-cases in the meat department and the delicatessen section were also installed by the Oakland firm.

(At Right)

The convenience of these new "carriers", provided by Villa's Market, is appreciated by Mrs. Fred Plath of 623 Cornell Avenue. She is able to watch her three-year-old son, Carl, while she carefully makes her purchases.

Exterior of Albany's Newest Market

Convenient

The front view of Villa's Market gives an idea of the departments maintained therein to provide shoppers with a complete line of foods for their homes. At the left, the large vegetable and fruit department. Center is the meat section, while at right is the spacious department which contains hundreds of varieties of canned goods and other food products.

A five-day sale, now in progress, is serving the double purpose of celebrating the completion of the market and supplying items for Thanksgiving at a saving.

At right is Joe Villa, owner and operator of the fine new market that bears his name.

Wishing You Many Years of Success Joe

ALBANY POST

No. 292

Having received Albany Post's quota of tickets for the annual all-star East-West football game at Memorial Stadium on December 11, Howard Hill, local member of the general committee, has announced that public sale will begin immediately.

Rivalry is expected to develop between the sellers of ducats. The local record stands at 50 tickets sold by August (Gus) Kissner last year.

Hill has placed tickets at the S. P. Corner Store where Max Etingoff will sell them until the day of the game.

Tonight's regular meeting of the Post will feature an unusual novelty and surprise presentation under the direction of James Sartain, entertainment chairman, according to Commander Ammon Cook. Neither man will volunteer information on the project, however.

The new Glee Club is busy rehearsing every Thursday evening and made its first public appearance at the Armistice memorial service at the Albany Community M. E. Church. The group is directed by Russel Rothschild, with Bartle Rolph as manager.

Charley Lewis and Everett Morton competed in the American Legion golf tournament held at Tilden Park recently and the former won the trophy for individual low score. The team award was won by Alameda Post No. 9. Lewis will probably place his cup in the new trophy case which is soon to be placed in the Memorial Building.

Morris stated that five people have asked to submit designs. Final selection of the design will be made by the board of directors of the Albany Chamber of Commerce. Covers may be sent any time and will be held till the first day of the new office. Miss Robina McGregor won the first drawing held by the Club and received an envelope of foreign stamps donated by Glen Chappel,

New Gas Heaters Aid Health

Speeches From

Memory Banned

By Brother Leo

Although he carefully wrote out in advance every word of his speeches in the first 20 years of his public speaking career to perfect his ability, Brother Leo, professor of literature at St. Mary's College, has no use for the lecturer who memorizes his speech word for word.

This was revealed in the last of his 16 addresses before women's groups in the Bay area before preparing for a series of lectures during December in Southern California.

Brother Leo indicated that he simply used his written material as a form for his addresses.

Perhaps the most accomplished speaker appearing regularly on the coast, Brother Leo has been giving courses in Shakespeare at the University of California extension division as well as maintaining his classes at St. Mary's and a rigorous public speaking schedule.

Beginning December 15, he is to appear under the auspices of study clubs and teachers' institutes in San Diego, Pasadena, Los Angeles and Long Beach.

Telephone your social items to The Times, THornwall 1510.

Do your children "sniffle" day in and day out in the winter time? Tre they home from school choked up with throat and head conditions over which you seem to have no control?

Just ask yourself, is it my heating system? Are there too many fluctuations in the temperature of the home?

If these questions are troubling you, the modern gas circulating heater will be an actual investment in family health for you.

The principle of controlled heat is most important in the health story of your family. Any system which is unregulated and uncontrolled lowers the vitality of the family and tends to increase their susceptibility to the supposed ills of winter.

By controlling and regulating your home temperatures automatically, an even heat permeates all your rooms and gives that sense of comfort and general well-being which is so desirable for home study and activity. And another very important function to be found operating in the gas circulating heater, is that of the circulation of clean air. Natural gas is a clean fuel and heat from natural gas is clean heat, containing no dust or soot to clog the breathing apparatus of your family.

Let no winter winds catch you and your family struggling along with inadequate heating facilities. Be modern and be healthy with a gas circulating heater.

New System Is

Explained by

Philco Dealer

"The Philco line is the only one which has two distinct types of automatic tuning, each serving a particular purpose," reveals Ted Williams of the Albany Radio Shop, local Philco dealers. "And no other line can have a system more precise than Cone-Centric Tuning, which can be set with absolute accuracy for all time."

The new system is introduced for the first time on some of the Double-X sets ("No Squat, No Stoop, No Squint") in the 1938 Philco line now on display in the store at 1150 Solano Avenue.

Achieved after 17 years of radio development, it offers both utmost accuracy and amazing flexibility, with 15 stations accurately gauged on the dial for instant tuning in, according to Williams. Other stations are tuned in as usual.

The heart of the Philco Cone-Centric Tuning system is a series of cone-shaped metal parts which project upward under the rim of the tuning dial. Each represents a local station. A cone-shaped cup of exactly the same diameter as the projections is fitted under the tuning knob or handle. Thus, a mere pressure on the tuning knob presses the cup on to the projections beneath, completely locking the station.

A marvelously accurate electrical instrument is used to set the cone-shaped projections in their proper location under the rim by the radio dealer before delivery of the instrument to the purchaser. The variation from the absolute true cannot possibly be greater than about one-eighty thousandth of an inch in the radio dial, or about one fortieth of the thickness of a human hair.

"Although the station marks on the radio dial are apparently close together, say about one-quarter of an inch," Williams explained, "yet in radio language they are 10,000 cycles apart. It is obvious that no human being could possibly consistently tune to within one-eighty thousandth of an inch of absolute precision. Yet this is just what Cone-Centric Tuning does, and it is fixed for all time."

Local Orchestra

Plays in Oakland

Led by Edwin S. Howell, recreation department supervisor, the boys of the Albany Playground Orchestra traveled to Oakland last Sunday night to entertain members of the Moose Club during their banquet in the new dining room of the club.

Always welcome entertainers wherever they appear, the boys received a hearty ovation from the club members and were asked to return soon for another performance.

Members of the orchestra are Buddy Meads, vocalist; Jim Gerlach, trumpet; Dante Mazzoni, accordion; Floyd McFaden, saxophone; Art Bellasano, accordion.
